JACKSONVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY

Teacher Candidates, Cooperating Teachers, University Supervisors and P-12 Administrators,

Internship is one of the most challenging and rewarding experiences for Jacksonville State University's teacher education program students. It is the culmination of years of study and practice in one's preparation to become a teacher. The knowledge and skills that teacher candidates gain during internship serve as the basis for the lifelong learning that defines a professional educator.

The Jacksonville State University College of Education and Professional Studies Teacher Internship Handbook provides guidance for everyone involved in the internship experience: teacher candidates, cooperating teachers, university supervisors, and school administration. From general requirements and professional expectations for teacher candidates to the specific requirements for university supervisors, cooperating teachers, and teacher candidates, most questions about the teacher internship semester are answered within these pages.

Of course, internship would be impossible without the generosity of spirit extended by the broader education community. Thank you to all of our partner school districts that embrace the shared task of preparing each new generation of teachers. Without the collaboration and support of our public schools, Jacksonville State University could not provide the real-world experience so critical to teacher education. Your willingness to contribute your expertise and guidance to those who want to follow in your footsteps is a gift.

Best regards,

Maria Hayes

1. A student applying for admission to a Class B Teacher Education Program must have a 2.50 Grade Point Average (GPA) in (1) overall course work, (2) all courses in the teaching field, and (3) all professional studies courses, to be eligible for admission. The student should seek to maintain at least a 2.50 in all areas and MUST have a 2.50 in each of the three above-named areas to be eligible to graduate and apply for Alabama Teacher Certification.

WRITING INTENSIVE COURSE APPLICATION:

Writing to learn in the academic discipline is likely already taking place within courses being offered. Writing assignments within a WI course can include any assignments that help students learn course concepts and material, using writing as the means of assessment: journals, portfolios, memos, artist statements, discussions, lab reports, scholarly articles or papers, letters, public service announcements, reflections, annotated bibliographies, news reports or press releases, websites, emails, posters, proofs, technical reports, discussion boards, etc. The writing grade percentage for a WI course can be reached through a cumulative total derived from a combination of various assignments and need not be determined from one single writing assignment, which encourages regular practice as well as frequent feedback. (For example, discussion boards 15%, lab reports 10%, research essay 10%, final exam with essay questions 15% = 50%).

1. Writing-Intensive courses should teach context-based writing in a particular discipline, focusing on teaching students how to think and write so they can communicate with professionals in their field. Identify the course and describe briefly how this course addresses this objective.

Reflective Practices, ED 496 provides the teacher candidate in internship the opportunity to plan, teach, assess, and reflect on student learning. Reflective Practice, ED 496 is a co-requisite course to ED 495, Internship. Internship in education is a full-semester, rigorous, student teaching experience. Interns are placed into P-12 classrooms appropriate for their teaching field. For example, secondary education interns are placed in classrooms for their specialty (English language arts, mathematics, social studies, family and consumer science, business marketing education, or science grades 6-12). Early childhood/elementary interns have two placements, the first in grades 1-3, the second in Pre-K. Special education interns have two placements in special education settings, one in grades K-6 and the other in grades 6-12. Health and Physical Education interns have three placements, one in health grades 6-12 and two in physical education at the K-6 and 6-12 levels. Internship is considered the capstone course for teacher candidates, it is the synthesis of their program.

edTPA is a national assessment that is performance based and includes a large written portfolio along with video clips of interns teaching in their placement. edTPA is designed to allow interns to demonstrate their readiness to plan, teach, and assess student learning. A valuable component of edTPA is the reflective piece of the portfolio, for every action in planning, teaching, and assessing, the intern must engage in deep reflection. The reflection is expressed through the written portfolio which includes at least three tasks (early childhood/elementary candidates have four tasks) and fifteen rubrics (early childhood/elementary candidates have eighteen rubrics). The writing in edTPA not only includes the reflective passages that align to each of the rubrics, it also includes the complete lesson plans and assessments for 3-5 day learning segments included in the portfolio. The

The edTPA portfolio must be started and completed in internship. The length of time to prepare the portfolio is substantial, interns begin on day one of internship and typically submit the portfolio for national scoring somewhere around the middle of the semester. The writing in edTPA is extensive and must be expressive enough for a national scorer to understand if a candidate demonstrates readiness for the classroom through the portfolio. The minimum score must be earned on the portfolio in order to pass, 37 for the fifteen rubric submissions and 42 for the eighteen rubric submissions. Most portfolios are no more than 25 pages, single spaced plus the supporting lesson plans, assessments, and student feedback. Early childhood/elementary portfolios have four tasks and are slightly longer.

Preparation of the portfolio is a lengthy process that includes drafting, feedback, and revision. This takes place across the first half of the semester and within the three or four tasks. Interns are well-prepared for this work and the expectation is for a large measure of independence in planning, teaching, assessing, and reflecting on student learning. The rules on instructor feedback on edTPA are quite strict, an instructor cannot alter what an intern is doing, and the portfolio must reflect their own work to demonstrate readiness. However, edTPA allows substantial flexibility in peer feedback and revision. Drafting, feedback, and revision work occurs during structured sessions where the interns report to campus biweekly to work collaboratively on their portfolios under the guidance of their instructors. Interns can give directions to one another on content and grammar, often using the edTPA rubrics as a scaffold for such feedback. The biweekly seminars are teaching field based, meaning that secondary education interns are together, early childhood/elementary are one group, special education is another group, and health and physical education are their own group. Instructors for ED 496 manage the seminars, providing guidance and instruction as allowed by the edTPA guidelines. Interns typically work in pairs or trios, providing feedback and working on revision in multiple stages until the portfolio is ready for submission.

2. To ensure success in critical thinking and communication within a particular discipline, Writing-Intensive courses need to be located in the department offering the degree. If the course your students are required to take falls outside your department, please explain how the course satisfies the specific academic needs of students pursuing a major in your discipline.

ED 496 is offered by the College of Education and Professional Studies as a general education course required by all candidates majoring in education in teaching fields associated with Curriculum and Instruction, Secondary Education, and Health and Physical Education. It is a required course, a candidate cannot complete the program and graduate without a successful edTPA portfolio submission that earns the required, state-mandated score.

3. Writing assignments should be fashioned and evaluated to reflect what students would be analyzing, developing, and creating through writing communication in their chosen discipline and profession; describe briefly how this course addresses this issue.

The writing assignment in ED 496 is the total edTPA portfolio. The edTPA portfolio for each teaching field can be found in the LiveText edTPA Resource page. This page can only be accessed with a visitor pass, click <https://www.livetext.com/> and enter Visitor Pass 9FADC57C. Click on left hand navigation, edTPA. Click on the bottom JSU College of Education and Professional Studies edTPA Resource Page. From there, all of the portfolios can be accessed, but do not download or otherwise share them. The portfolios are set up in tasks, each task has prompts. These are the documents interns use to prepare their portfolio for the national submission.

4. Students should receive substantive feedback from the course instructor on writing assignments (i.e. not graded by a separate grader or graduate assistant), and the writing assignments should be a major part of the course grade.

This course is taught by and student papers are graded by a full-time instructor:

X yes AND X no.

This is a yes and no question for the College of Education and Professional Studies. Some sections of ED 496 are taught by full-time instructors, others are taught by adjuncts. Adjuncts in the College of Education and Professional Studies have decades of classroom experience and meet the criteria of the both the university and the AL Code of Educator Preparation. Adjuncts are considered important faculty members and participate in faculty meetings, data days, and professional development alongside full-time faculty members. The edTPA portfolio is not graded at all at JSU, it goes to a national scorer who evaluates the content in the portfolio to determine if the candidate demonstrates readiness for the classroom.

If not, please explain how the current instructional arrangement responds to the concern that student writing receive feedback directly from the professor teaching the course.

N/A

5. A Writing-Intensive course should require multiple writing assignments, both formal and informal. Therefore, while the quantity of written work is flexible and to be determined by academic or professional standards, we recommend students in WI courses produce a minimum of 16 pages of writing, or 3500-4000 words. This amount can consist of multiple assignments, not just one long research paper. How are the writing assignments sequenced, scaffolded, and distributed throughout the semester? Submit writing assignments/syllabi for this course that demonstrate how this requirement is being met.

The edTPA portfolios in the LiveText resource page show the amount of writing and reflecting that teacher candidates are required to do during the preparation of their national submission. The three tasks (four for early childhood/elementary), are prepared over the course of the first half of the semester. The preparation process is rigorous and time-consuming. While there is no rubric for grammar in the portfolio, it is a holistic scoring that depends upon the candidate's ability to successfully express the content and reflection necessary in the teaching profession. A portfolio containing gross errors in grammar would not be acceptable.

Examples of the prompts from the edTPA Tasks 1, 2, and 3 are below. These may slightly vary depending upon the teaching field. The examples below are from elementary education. The entire portfolio for Tasks 1, 2 and 3 can be no more than 25 single-spaced pages (9 for Task 1, 6 for Task 2, and 10 for Task 3). Additionally, lesson plans, assessments, and examples of student feedback are also submitted, adding to the writing load in ways consistent with teaching as a profession.

 2. Submit an additional video file named "Language Use" of no more than 5 minutes in length and cite language use (this can be footage of one or more students' language use). Submit the clip in Literacy Assessment Task 3, Part B.
 3. Use the student work samples analyzed in Literacy Assessment Task 3 and cite language use.
- a. Explain and provide concrete examples for the extent to which your students were able to use or struggled to use
 - selected language function,
 - vocabulary or key phrases, AND
 - discourse or syntaxto develop content understandings.

4. Using Assessment to Inform Instruction

- a. Based on your analysis of student learning presented in prompts 1b–c, describe next steps for instruction to impact student learning:
 - For the whole class
 - For the 3 focus students and other individuals/groups with specific needs

Consider the variety of learners in your class who may require different strategies/support (e.g., students with IEPs or 504 plans, English language learners, struggling readers, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students needing greater support or challenge).

- b. Explain how these next steps follow from your analysis of student learning. Support your explanation with principles from research and/or theory.
- 6. How does the course engage students in the writing process, including revision? Writing Intensive courses include assignments which require a multistage revision process to complete a writing assignment. Feedback (from instructors, teaching assistants, and/or peers) is an integral part of the course instruction. Revision involves rethinking and reformulating, not merely editing of conventional and stylistic elements.

Instructors cannot offer feedback that changes the intent of the candidate in preparing the edTPA portfolio, only general feedback can be provided. However, peer feedback and revision is acceptable and encouraged. ED 496 is structured as a workshop seminar to allow interns the time and opportunity to complete their portfolio. Peer feedback and revision are critical elements to the success of each candidate in preparing an acceptable, portfolio capable of achieving the state-mandated score. The three task examples above in #5 show the depth of the writing needed to complete the edTPA portfolio. Peer review is done in stages for each of the three (elementary education has fourth task for math) tasks. Peer review is supported by different tools that guide peer conversation so that the portfolio entries express the content pedagogical knowledge reflective of each teaching field. Each teaching field uses tools that support their own content pedagogical knowledge, for example checklists and conversation prompts to help the peers when working together in the seminar workshops.

GPA Requirements
Graduate Studies Academic Regulations and Procedures

1. A minimum GPA of 3.25 is required on all courses used to meet the requirements on the ALSDE approved program checklist at the master's (Class A) level.
2. A minimum GPA of 3.50 is required on all courses used to meet the requirements on the ALSDE approved program checklist at the education specialist (Class AA) level.

TEACHER CANDIDATE (TC) DISPOSITION ASSESSMENT (TCDA) POLICY:

Teacher candidates must follow the JSU College of Education and Professional Studies' TCDA Policy.

The JSU College of Education and Professional Studies expects TC to demonstrate dispositions that contribute to the development and learning of all P-12 students. Dispositions refer to attributes and attitudes beyond academic abilities. In order to establish expectations and monitor TC in these areas, the TCDA is administered at selected program decision points, including prior to admission, during, and prior to completion of the JSU TEP. Faculty assess candidates at established program decision points on each of the following twelve indicators:

1. Communication
2. Punctuality
3. Professional Boundaries
4. Openness to Improvement
5. Self-Regulation
6. Personal Appearance and Hygiene
7. Leadership and Collaboration
8. Effective Facilitation
9. Assessment and Reflection
10. Diverse Learners and Environments
11. Ethics and Professional Responsibility
12. Reflective Mastery of Content

If a candidate is assessed as unacceptable or developing in any area, a Teacher Candidate Plan of Action (TCPoA) may be developed as a remediation step or the candidate may be removed from the TEP. The first six indicators (Communication, Punctuality, Professional Boundaries, Openness to Improvement, Self-Regulation, and Personal Appearance and Hygiene) are applicable in every course. The last six indicators (Leadership and Collaboration, Effective Facilitation, Assessment and Reflection, Diverse Learners and Environments, Ethics and Professional Responsibility and Reflective Mastery of Content) may not be observed in some courses. For all indicators, if there is no opportunity for the TC to demonstrate a disposition, the Not Applicable selection may be used. In addition to the selected program decision points, faculty, university supervisors, and cooperating teachers may complete the TCDA or TCPoA on a teacher candidate at any time.

Alabama Educator Preparation Code
Chapter 290-3-3-.02

A. Candidate Eligibility

1. To be eligible for placement, each candidate must be unconditionally admitted to the JSU College of Education and Professional Studies (CEPS) Teacher Education Program and be registered for appropriate clinical experience course(s). Internship applications are completed at Internship Application Meetings one semester before internship (i.e., application for fall semester is submitted the previous spring semester; application for spring semester is submitted the previous fall semester). It is the candidate's responsibility to be aware of application due dates, as well as ensure information is truthful and kept current on file with the Office of Clinical Experiences (OCE). The time, date, and place of the internship application meetings are announced at the beginning of each semester and posted on the JSU Clinical Experience Webpage.
2. Incomplete internship applications will not be processed, which will delay placement. Late applications will not be given priority.

B. Facilitation of Placement

1. The JSU OCE facilitates placement of candidates. Decisions about placements are determined in collaboration with school districts, JSU CEPS faculty, and the Coordinator of Clinical Placements and School Partnerships.
2. In addition to ALSDE and CEPS placement requirements, the CEPS must follow each district's protocol for identifying a placement school and cooperating teachers. Due to the placement process and requirements by districts, candidates are not to contact the cooperating professional, principal, or district personnel, and should not make any arrangements with a school district for a clinical experience placement. All placements come through the OCE.

C. Diverse Placements

The CEPS is committed to providing candidates opportunities to observe and practice in diverse settings. Diversity is found in all school districts and programs with which the CEPS has partnerships for placement, in terms of location (rural, urban, suburban, city, town), grade levels, language, ethnic groups, socio-economic, gender, English language learners, disabilities and exceptionalities. Note: Candidates may not directly ask students about ethnicity or socio-economic status.

D. Conflicts of Interest

1. To minimize role confusion and conflict-of-interest issues that may undermine professional growth, performance and evaluation, candidates may not practice in schools where family members work or study. Established partnerships and professional relationships between JSU CEPS, specific schools and school districts may be jeopardized if direct candidate contacts occur. "Family" is defined as, but not limited to, the following: spouse, child, grandchild, brother/sister, aunt/uncle, grandparents, niece/nephew, cousins, sister-in-law/brother-in-law, mother/father. This information must be disclosed on the application for internship.
2. You may not complete a clinical experience where you attended high school unless it has been more than ten years since your graduation. Do not list this as a requested choice for placement on your application for internship.

E. Placement Preferences

1. The OCE may ask for candidate preferences in the location of clinical experiences, but preferred placement is not guaranteed.
2. Due to large number of placements made each term and needs of all candidates, a candidate who refuses an assigned placement will not be reassigned until all other candidates are placed for that term and may possibly not have a placement until the following term.
3. Placements are made in select Alabama P-12 schools within JSU's 70-mile radius.

F. Employed Candidates

Employed Alternative A interns (teachers of record) who hold a valid Interim Educator Certificate (IEC) endorsed for the teaching field appropriate to the candidate's teaching assignment may be allowed to complete internship within his/her classroom. See Coordinator of Clinical Placements and School Partnerships for further information.

Special Internship provisions for Alternative-A candidates who hold an Interim Employment Certificate:

The following teaching fields require a divided internship unless a 3-hour semester practicum has been completed to meet the divided internship requirements:

1. Early Childhood P-3,
2. Elementary Education K-6,
3. Music Education Vocal and Instrumental P-12,
4. Physical Education P-12-6/6-12.

Alternative-A programs that require a divided internship include at least one specific practicum course outside of the internship to meet this requirement. Academic departments are responsible for ensuring that candidates employed with a valid IEC meet the divided internship requirements through satisfactory performance in the practicum. Completion of the 3-hour practicum requires a setting appropriate to the teaching field in which the certification is sought. Students employed outside of the 3-hour practicum setting may complete well thought out and intentional assignments in another setting to meet the practicum requirements. The following candidate groups are required to have a divided internship unless a 3-hour practicum has been completed outside of internship to meet the requirement:

1. Employed early childhood education teachers holding a valid IEC.
2. Employed elementary education teachers holding a valid IEC.
3. Employed teachers holding an IEC that spans P-12: music education vocal or Instrumental, physical education.
4. Employed collaborative special education K-6 and 6-12 teachers holding a valid IEC.

The following requirements are based on the Alabama Educator Preparation Code

SECTION I: THE INTERNSHIP

The Internship Experience

Internship is one of the most important experiences for Jacksonville State University College of Education and Professional Studies teacher candidates. It is generally regarded as the culminating activity of one's preparation to become a teacher. At JSU, the teaching internship is a full-semester, full-time assignment.

The most important and influential persons in the supervision of the internship experience are the classroom cooperating teachers and the university supervisors. These people have an important professional responsibility in preparing the teacher candidate for entrance into the teaching profession. It is of the greatest importance that all individuals working with the teacher candidate establish and maintain the highest level of cooperation and communication with each other and with the teacher candidate.

Teacher candidates will observe the same policies and expectations as their cooperating classroom teachers. The classroom teacher should provide clear directions and closely monitor the teacher candidate's behavior to prevent any misunderstandings from occurring.

A successful experience in the internship depends largely on the teacher candidate's ability to adapt to a new situation and to develop good working relationships with the classroom teacher, university supervisor, and professional peers. The principal and faculty of the school will expect behavior appropriate for a professional, and, to a large extent, the attitude and behavior of the teacher candidate will be evaluated as much as teaching ability and knowledge of content area.

There is no substitute for good planning, and planning goes beyond writing lesson plans. It also includes having materials ready, previewing materials, implementing available technology, having handouts ready and on hand, and arranging the classroom so that the teacher candidate can make eye contact with all students. A teacher candidate should be certain that activities will last for the appropriate time period or have additional activities prepared. Completing a lesson before the end of the class period and not having a worthwhile activity in which to engage students can result in management problems.

In addition, the following suggestions are given to help teacher candidates be successful:

The teacher candidate will

- abide by the teaching internship requirements and policies described in the Teacher Internship Handbook and the syllabus.
- recognize that he/she is a guest in the school to which they are assigned.
- become familiar with and abide by all policies and regulations of the school to which they are assigned.
- always be punctual and dependable.
- plan for all activities for which s/he is responsible and have the plans approved by the classroom teacher prior to implementation.
- accept the classroom teacher's decisions regarding the material to be covered and the method of presentation. (The cooperating teacher is legally responsible for the class.)
- establish and maintain effective professional working relationships.
- handle confidential information in a professional manner.
- attend school activities as required of classroom teachers.
- attend seminars organized by the classroom teachers, university supervisors, university liaisons, and/or the Office of Clinical Experiences.

SECTION II: FAQs, Expectations, Responsibilities, and Policies

Teacher Candidates are responsible for adhering to all policies and responsibilities specified below and located within the JSU Internship Handbook

Internship FAQs

How long does student teaching take place?

The Alabama State Department of Education (ALSDE) requires that the internship be full time in the schools for a full semester in the teaching field(s) for which certification is sought. Teacher candidates will intern for a full semester, five days per week, following the schedule of the cooperating teacher and the system calendar for the system in which they are placed. Each intern will receive a placement letter with individual start and end dates. All days that are missed for acceptable reasons must be made up at the end of the semester. In the event that make-up days cannot be completed before grades must be recorded, the candidate will receive a grade of Incomplete. If the required make-up days can be completed before the end of the placement school's semester, the candidate may be allowed to graduate at the next opportunity. If there is not time in the placement school's semester to complete the required make-up days, the candidate may be required to repeat the internship experience in its entirety.

JSU internship experience may include in-service days, teacher work days, institute days, etc., which may include the opening and closing of a school year. We at JSU feel that this is the culminating experience of your education program, and we hope that it will be an affirming and growing experience as well.

Teacher candidates will work with cooperating teachers on organization of class activities, meeting with parents, and settling in with new students. Teacher candidates will also follow the calendar of the school system in which they are placed as opposed to the JSU academic calendar during their internship semester. (Candidates who have received prior approval and are enrolled in a JSU class other than ED 495/595 and ED 496/596 must follow the JSU academic calendar for the purposes of that class, and there should be no conflicts in schedules.)

What happens if withdrawal becomes necessary?

In the event that circumstances force you to withdraw from internship, all parties involved must be notified immediately. This includes the Coordinator of Clinical Placements and School Partnerships, the JSU supervisor, cooperating teacher, and the principal at the host school. You will be responsible for following proper procedures with the Registrar's office for withdrawing from the internship course.

Can one be removed from the internship?

Yes. As a JSU teacher candidate, you are a representative of the College of Education and Professional Studies. As such, you are expected to follow not only JSU's guidelines, but also those of the school where you are placed. Any candidate may be removed at any time from internship at the request of the cooperating teacher, JSU supervisor, Coordinator of Clinical Placements and School Partnerships, principal of the school, or the superintendent of the school system. Failure to complete the internship because of a removal from the program will result in a failure to pass.

Can one be dismissed from the College of Education and Professional Studies?

Yes. The Disciplinary Action Committee (DAC) is a standing committee within the College of Education and Professional Studies to whom allegations of academic or professional misconduct are directed. Alleged violations of the School Standards are reviewed by the DAC. The DAC is responsible for determining the validity of any allegation of academic or professional misconduct that would warrant the dismissal from the College of Education and Professional Studies. In addition to its judicial purpose, the DAC serves to strengthen the ethical orientation of those in the College of Education and Professional Studies.

How does one apply for certification?

During the formal internship, instructions for completing the application for Alabama certification will be distributed at the mandatory Internship Orientation. You are responsible for submitting all information required by the Alabama State Department of Education (ALSDE) with your application(s) for Alabama certification. Completed certification application(s) and the required fee for each certificate must be turned in to Ms. Kelly Murray, Coordinator of Teacher Service Center (TSC), by the specified deadline (Deadlines are typically as follows: Spring - the Friday before Spring Break and Fall - the third Friday of October) Upon successful completion of the pre-service internship and graduation, your certification application will be mailed to the ALSDE. Once applications have been mailed, it may take several weeks before the actual certificate will be mailed from ALSDE to the teacher applicant. A graduate who does not apply for a professional educator certificate within 60 calendar months of completing the state-approved program will be required to meet additional JSU criteria, as well as additional requirements imposed by the ALSDE. Interns who plan to teach in other states must also secure the proper professional licensure application forms from the appropriate state department of education. Additionally, as a courtesy and upon successful completion of your program, a Letter of Completion will be emailed by the TSC to your JSU student email address.

Who will evaluate me during my pre-service internship and how many times will there be evaluations?

Teacher candidates will be evaluated by cooperating teachers and/or JSU supervisors at least three times using the CLP + COBS rubric. Some departments will also use the Clinical Experiences Observation Instruments (CEOI).

For the programs using the CEOI, the CT and the US will each (individually) use the CEOI appropriate for your academic program to evaluate your instruction at each of the 3 formal evaluations. An additional evaluation may be completed if deemed necessary.

Most visits will be scheduled; however, pop-in visits/evaluations are possible. At no time should a university supervisor find a teacher candidate disengaged from instruction or classroom activities.

When may I expect to be evaluated?

You may expect to be evaluated over the course of the pre-service teaching experience by both the supervisor and cooperating teacher. We encourage the supervisor and cooperating teacher to observe the same lesson at the same time. There should be a fairly reasonable and equal space of time (as much as is possible) between observations to allow for growth and practice of areas that need to show improvement. Your university supervisor and cooperating teacher may give you further details on when they plan to evaluate you during the semester. You will not be evaluated on any teaching associated with your edTPA portfolio.

What do I have to do to successfully “pass” or meet requirements for the internship? You must meet all requirements set forth in this handbook and for all work submitted/evaluated in ED 496/596, including an edTPA passing score. In the event that you do not successfully complete the work, you may earn an “Incomplete” or an “F” depending on individual circumstance. Pass/Fail will be determined in consultation with the Cooperating Teacher, University Supervisor, ED 496/596 Instructor and Department Head.

PROFESSIONAL EXPECTATIONS

To maintain and enhance the reputation of Jacksonville State University for producing exceedingly competent teachers, the following list of professional expectations has been developed for all teacher candidates participating in internship. We expect each of our candidates to...

Meet all requirements for placement in internship - In the event that all requirements have not been met prior to internship, the candidate may not receive a placement until the necessary requirements have been completed, which could result in a delay in one's internship.

Exhibit a professional image when representing JSU on campus and in the wider education community - Included in this handbook is the ALSDE Teacher Code of Ethics. We expect our candidates to abide by professional and ethical guidelines and to consistently exhibit a professional image as a representative of JSU.

Public comments (including those made within social media such as Facebook, Twitter, Snapchat, etc.) made by the teacher candidate regarding his/her cooperating school district, its teachers, students, or parents should only be made on a positive, professional level (OR NOT AT ALL). The intern will not post photos/videos of P-12 students on social media.

Communicate at all times in an ethical and professional manner with peers, supervisors, parents and students.

Use appropriate grammar, both in speech and in written work, within all professional exchanges and situations - ALL written (typed) work should be properly edited and checked for errors before being submitted to anyone. Written and oral communication will either positively or negatively affect the impression that is made on others.

Be prompt, prepared and persistent in initiating and following through with professional obligations - Part of being a professional is being on time, being well-prepared, and meeting all obligations. There is no excuse for tardiness, not being fully prepared to teach a lesson, or doing anything with less than 100% effort.

Show sensitivity to and respect for individual differences, demonstrate acceptance of and appreciation for cultural and ethnic diversity among learners and peers - We expect our teacher candidates to model respect for everyone with whom they come in contact, regardless of position or circumstances.

Show steady progress toward competency of all required state and university standards for internship - With each and every evaluation, you should be exhibiting positive gains in your abilities and performances on various types of evaluations and assessments. Steady growth across the duration of internship is required. In the event of negative progress, the candidate will be referred for remediation through his/her department head and may be afforded another opportunity to successfully complete the pre-service internship during a subsequent semester.

More specifically, we expect a seriousness of purpose and respect for the profession of teaching in this critical aspect of your training. We expect the candidate to give every task his/her best effort, to tenaciously keep trying regardless of setbacks, to be receptive to suggestions and to be open-minded. Seek new knowledge and try various ways of applying what you learn. View each experience as an opportunity to gain insight toward improving yourself as a person and as a future professional educator.

Conduct, Dress, and Grooming Expectations

Teacher interns must conduct themselves in a manner consistent with professional, ethical, and moral standards at all times. Failure to do so may result in termination of the teaching internship. Teacher interns, though students, by University standards, are (in most cases) regarded as members of the faculty at the assigned school. Interns must follow any dress code outlined in their assigned school for students and/or faculty.

The policies and culture of each individual school and the nature of the instructional activities define permissible dress and grooming. Interns are expected to maintain standards of dress and appearance that conform to the established policies of local school authorities and not those of the University campus. Interns are expected to follow standards of dress that promote the education profession and the assigned school system and that serve as positive models for students and the community. Dress and appearance must not present health or safety problems. Dress and/or grooming that disrupt the educational environment may result in the intern's removal from the internship placement. Professional appearance includes but is not limited to length and style of hair, beards and mustaches, style of dress, body piercings, tattoos, and other matters of personal appearance. To determine acceptable dress and grooming, interns should ask their classroom teacher or building principal for guidance.

- Dress neatly, clean, not too wrinkled, and not too tight. Clothing should not be a distraction to your classroom.
- No caps or head covering (unless for medical or religious reasons)
- No gum
- No spaghetti straps or low-cut tops
- No visible pierced areas except ears
- No midriff showing (either front or back)
- No underwear showing
- No flip flops
- Tattoos covered
- Never sexy or provocative
- Males' shirts tucked in and beards trimmed or clean shaven
- No blue jeans (unless during a school sanctioned "casual day")
- No eating or drinking in the classroom when students are not permitted to eat or drink
- Female's higher neck lines and lower hem lines
- When in question, follow the student's dress code for the school district. You are a guest in their school and must abide by their dress code policy.

Alabama Educator Code of Ethics

Introduction

The primary goal of every educator in the state of Alabama must, at all times, be to provide an environment in which all students can learn. In order to accomplish that goal, educators must value the worth and dignity of every person, must have a devotion to excellence in all matters, must actively support the pursuit of knowledge, and must fully participate in the nurturance of a democratic citizenry. To do so requires an adherence to a high ethical standard.

The Alabama Educator Code of Ethics defines the professional behavior of educators in Alabama and serves as a guide to ethical conduct. The code protects the health, safety and general welfare of students and educators; outlines objective standards of conduct for professional educators; and clearly defines actions of an unethical nature for which disciplinary sanctions are justified.

Code of Ethics Standards

Standard 1: Professional Conduct

An educator should demonstrate conduct that follows generally recognized professional standards.

Ethical conduct includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Encouraging and supporting colleagues in the development and maintenance of high standards.
- Respecting fellow educators and participating in the development of a professional and supportive teaching environment.
- Engaging in a variety of individual and collaborative learning experiences essential to developing professionally in order to promote student learning.

Unethical conduct is any conduct that impairs the certificate holder's ability to function in his or her employment position or a pattern of behavior that is detrimental to the health, welfare, discipline, or morals of students. Unethical conduct includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Harassment of colleagues.
 - Misuse or mismanagement of tests or test materials.
 - Inappropriate language on school grounds.
 - Physical altercations.
- Failure to provide appropriate supervision of students.

Absence Policy

Internship is a full-time obligation designed to meet the requirements of state and national accreditation agencies. Regular attendance and punctuality are critical to the success of student teaching.

- Interns will follow the calendar of the school district in which they are placed and not the schedule of Jacksonville State University.
- There are no “sick days” or “personal days” in student teaching; however, absences from the school placement may be excused for personal illness and/or death(s) in your immediate family, in which case documentation may be required. If a student teacher is absent for more than three days due to illness, he/she must present a physician’s statement to the cooperating teacher and university supervisor.
- Interns must notify the cooperating teacher and the university supervisor of any absence or anticipated absence.
- Authorized absences include mandatory religious obligations, participation in university-scheduled events for athletic teams, the marching band, debate teams, and other recognized JSU groups, service with the military or National Guard, and jury duty. Prior notification of scheduled activities must be as soon as available.
- Excessive absences are unacceptable. Interns are required to make up missed days or they may be removed from the internship. Removal from the internship is at the discretion of the Department. Tardiness will be considered an absence.

Any questions about absences should be referred to your assigned University Supervisor.

Procedures to Follow in Case of an Absence from School

1. If illness or an emergency makes it necessary for you to be absent from your internship assignment, you are required to follow these steps no later than 7:00 AM of the day you are to be absent.
2. Contact your cooperating teacher (CT) immediately by phone call and/or text and follow up with an email. (CTs may not have time to check their email prior to the start of the school day.)
3. Call the school to notify the principal of your absence. If the principal is unavailable, leave a message for her/him.
4. Deliver any lessons or materials the cooperating teacher might need to teach your lesson if you were scheduled to provide instruction; emailing the lesson plans is acceptable.
5. Call and/or text or email your university supervisor (US) and notify him/her of your absence. Be sure that s/he is aware of your absence and does not try to visit for an evaluation during this time.
6. If you are late, this is considered an absence. You will continue in the classroom on the day you are late and you will be required to make up this day at the end of the semester.

SECTION III: EVALUATION

Throughout the internship semester, the goals and objectives outlined in The Conceptual Framework of the College of Education and Professional Studies, as well as within the Alabama State Department of Education Teaching Standards will provide the basis for the observation and evaluation of the teacher candidates' performance both in the classroom and in other professional activities.

A fundamental process required of every teacher candidate is continuous self-evaluation. Evaluation is the process of measuring growth toward predetermined objectives, purposes, and values. You should determine what your objectives are and periodically take time to review your progress toward their attainment. You should find an opportunity to reflect after each lesson and at the end of the internship period.

Two broad areas provide the basis for all evaluations / observations. They are...

1. Dispositions: communication, punctuality, professional boundaries, openness to improvement, self-regulation, personal appearance and hygiene, leadership and collaboration, effective facilitation, assessment and reflection, diverse learners and environments, ethics and professional responsibility, and reflective mastery of content.
2. Teaching Competencies: knowledge of instructional procedures and subject matter, understanding of children and the principles of learning, planning and preparation abilities, organizational skills, classroom management and discipline capabilities, knowledge of teaching strategies and techniques, knowledge and wise use of instructional materials and technology.

Teacher Candidate Rating Policy

Final Assignments:

P = Pass

The teacher candidate has demonstrated a Proficient to Exceptional ability to create a community of learners highly motivated and engaged, assuming considerable responsibility for their own learning. The candidate has the potential to be an outstanding first-year teacher.

The candidate has clearly demonstrated understanding of the concepts underlying the identified competencies and implements each well. Implementation is consistent and effective. S/he demonstrates the likelihood of becoming an excellent teacher with more experience and mentoring.

F = Fail

The teacher candidate has not given evidence of the ability to demonstrate the concepts underlying the competencies. S/he may not be allowed to continue in the Teacher Education Program. Counsel may be provided to aid in the selection of an alternative course of study.

NOTE: See page 42 for edTPA Pass/Fail requirements.

Performance Levels Identified / Explained:

4	Exceptional	Indicates the teacher candidate does an outstanding job regarding performance on this indicator or competency. No area of improvement is readily identifiable.
3	Proficient	Indicates the teacher candidate consistently meets and sometimes exceeds expectations regarding performance on this competency. Performance can be improved in the area, but current practices are clearly acceptable.
2	Developing	Indicates the teacher candidate's performance sometimes but not always meets expectations regarding performance on this competency.
1	Unacceptable	Improvement is required for performance to consistently meet standards. Indicates the teacher candidate's performance on this competency is not acceptable. Improvement must be made immediately.

Always keep in mind that the purpose of evaluation is for you to gain insight into your own areas of strengths and weaknesses from a professional who has much more experience as an educator. The process is designed for you to receive constructive feedback on your performance and teaching abilities over the course of the semester. Growth should be an expected part of the process. Along that same line, the teacher candidate should not expect perfection immediately. There are few veteran teachers who will tell you they have reached "perfection in teaching," though they will certainly tell you they strive for it daily. The very best educator in the world is in trouble the minute they begin to think that they have "learned it all," or "have no room to improve." Opportunities identified as areas for growth are just that and should be viewed by the intern as such. Keeping a positive attitude and a desire to improve as needed during the semester, should be the intern's goal. Accept constructive feedback with a positive attitude and view it as an opportunity for growth.

Feedback and Required Evaluations

Guidelines for Completing Evaluations

Evaluation of the teacher candidate's performance is a cooperative process that involves the cooperating teacher, university supervisor, and in some cases the building-level administrator, and CEPS Department Head. The evaluation process focuses on the growth of the individual. A comprehensive assessment of all student teaching activities will reflect an accurate perception of the candidate's readiness for classroom teaching. In order to accomplish this, the cooperating teacher and university supervisor should adhere to the following:

- Schedule regular evaluation/feedback/reflection conferences with the teacher candidate. (Should occur at the beginning, middle, and end of internship)
- Provide a continuous flow of information on the candidate's performance.
- Focus on the feedback about the candidate's present performance.
- Clarify the teaching competencies that need attention.
- Provide the candidate with the opportunity for self-evaluation and reflection.
- Suggest alternatives for planning to align with standards, instructing to meet standards, and managing to control the classroom.
- Discuss reasons for various modes of operations and assessment.
- Submit all evaluations online in a timely manner. Please use the comment section provided on the forms to summarize the candidate's performance with specific action steps and suggestions in areas of need.

SECTION IV: PLANNING

Planning for the Transition of Intern's Responsibilities

The University Supervisor and Cooperating Teacher will collaborate to determine the timetable for transition of the intern's responsibilities. The following items should be considered:

- The teacher candidate, CT, and US should plan carefully to make the transition of responsibilities a smooth one for teachers and students.
- Regular and joint planning time may be scheduled, in-person, virtual, email, and/or telephone.
- The teacher candidate should assume new responsibilities each week and continue responsibilities from the week before.
- The teacher candidate will gradually assume lead-teaching and lead-planning responsibilities for a minimum of twenty (20) days, with at least five (5) of those being consecutive.
- Teacher candidates should always be engaged with students and in classroom activities except for brief periods allowed for observing in other classrooms.
- The assignment of new tasks should progress from the CT in the lead role to the teacher candidate in the lead role on a regular basis, depending on the needs/demands of the classroom situation.

SECTION V: edTPA

Using EdTPA

edTPA™ was designed by teachers and teacher educators to support candidate learning and provide data that support preparation program growth and renewal. Aligned with Common Core State Standards and InTASC Standards, edTPA assesses teaching behaviors that focus on student learning. edTPA is a summative capstone assessment to evaluate readiness to teach. It is also a source of evidence for program review, teacher licensure and/or state and national accreditation.

15-Rubric edTPA Portfolio 75 Points Possible	18-Rubric edTPA Portfolio 90 Points Possible
Passing Score: 37	Passing Score: 44

Note: The edTPA portfolio and rubrics DO NOT take the place of JSU College of Education and Professional Studies's internship observation/evaluation rubrics; this is in addition to the CLP + COBS (and in some departments, the CEOI).

Preparation for Critical Dimensions of Teaching

The edTPA process identifies and collects subject-specific evidence of effective teaching from a learning segment of three to five lessons from a unit of instruction for one class of students. Teacher candidates submit authentic artifacts from a clinical field experience. Candidates also submit commentaries that provide a rationale to support their instructional practices based on the learning strengths and needs of students. Candidates' evidence is evaluated and scored within the following five dimensions of teaching:

- 1. Planning Instruction and Assessment
- 2. Instructing and Engaging Students in Learning
- 3. Assessing Student Learning
- 4. Analysis of Teaching Effectiveness
- 5. Academic Language Development

Refer to your edTPA subject-specific handbook for further information.

edTPA Guidelines for Acceptable Candidate Support

Acceptable Forms of Support for Candidates within the edTPA Process

- Providing candidates with access to handbooks and other explanatory materials about edTPA and expectations for candidate performance on the assessment
- Explaining edTPA tasks and scoring rubrics and guiding discussions about them

- Providing and discussing support documents such as Making Good Choices about what lessons or examples to use within the assessment responses
- Discussing samples of previously completed edTPA portfolio materials (where appropriate permissions have been granted)
- Engaging candidates in formative experiences aligned with edTPA (e.g., assignments analyzing their instruction, developing curriculum units, or assessing student work)
- Explaining scoring rubrics and using these rubrics in formative exercises or assignments. If candidates, peers, or instructors use rubrics in formative exercises or assignments, they must be aware that such local scoring cannot be assumed to be comparable to the scoring conducted by trained evaluators who have met calibrated scoring standards.
- Using rubric constructs or rubric language to evaluate and debrief observations made by field supervisors or cooperating teachers as part of the clinical supervision process
- Offering candidate seminars focusing on the skills and abilities identified in edTPA, such as an Academic Language seminar
- Asking probing questions about candidates' draft edTPA responses or video recordings, without providing direct edits of the candidate's writing or providing candidates with specific answers to edTPA prompts
- Assisting candidates in understanding how to use the electronic platforms for models/programs using electronic uploading of candidate responses
- Arranging technical assistance for the video portion of the assessment

Unacceptable Forms of Candidate Support during the edTPA Assessment Process

- Editing a candidate's official materials prior to submission
- Offering critique of candidate responses that provides specific, alternative responses, prior to submission for official scoring
- Telling candidates which video clips to select for submission
- Uploading candidate edTPA responses (written responses or videotape entries) on public access social media websites
