

Finding Cases

Cases are published in volumes called "case reports", "report(s)" or "reporter(s)". Every reported (published) case has a unique citation. As long as you have the citation, you can find any case published in a standard case reporter. A case citation usually contains the case name, the name of the reporter(s) where the case is published, the volume number(s) of the reporter(s), the page number, and the year the case was decided. The following is an example of a case citation:

Miranda v. Arizona	384	U.S.	436	(1966)
Case name	Vol. No.	Abbreviated name of reporter	Page No.	Year of the decision

CASE SOURCES

You can find cases in print or in electronic format in our library; you can also find cases through the Internet. Details of the print/electric sources and the URLs of the case finding web sites are given below. [For more abbreviations, please see Black Law's Dictionary REF KF156.B53.]

1. Print/Electronic Sources in Houston Cole Library:

a) United States Reports (U.S.)

KF101.U5 (10th Floor, Reference Section)
